Purpose

- Purpose is...
- Purpose is not convenient

“If you don’t try to actively to discover your purpose, you’re likely to spend your life doing the wrong things.”

- Questions to identify your purpose:

For what am I searching?

Why was I created?

Do I believe in my potential?

When do I start?

What disciplines do I need to develop?

Power

- Thoughts Patterns

The power of our thought life:

- Major premise: We can control our thoughts
- Minor premise: Our feelings come from our thoughts
- Conclusion: We can control our feelings by learning to change how we think

“That which holds our attention determines our actions. We are where we are and what we are because of the dominating thoughts that occupy our minds.”

What is one habitual thought pattern that you would like to change for the better?

Potential

- What really defines success for you?
- Commitment to continual improvement is the key to reaching your potential and to be successful.
- Sow seeds that benefit others!

“The major difference between those who do it and those who don’t do it, is those who do it, do it.”

“Eliminating problems limits our potential. Reaching your potential requires focus.”

What is one goal or a smaller milestone towards a larger goal that you want to focus on for the next 2 weeks?

Takeaways

- ✓ You ARE a person of purpose and mindset disruptor
- ✓ Your thought patterns is your superpower
- ✓ You define your potential

Tip:

Internal distractions (most challenging):

We choose our focus. Being distracted is a form of being focused however, it is having a focus on the minor things instead of the major things that we are called to.
